

Places to Look for Lost Library Books

So, where was the last place you remember having the book? Have you checked all these?

Remember: A library book has a white spine label and our library's name and barcode.

Around the House

In the car (also check under the seats)

Under the baby's car seat

In the trunk of the car

In the other car

In the garage

Behind the washer or dryer

In the stroller bag

In the recycling bin

In your folder or binder

In your backpack

In your other backpack

In your sibling's backpack

In the piano bench

Has the housekeeper seen it?

Under the reclining chair cushion

Under or in the sofa

Under or on any of the tables

On top of the refrigerator

On any of your bookshelves

On/in any of the desks at home

Under one of the beds

In the sheets at the foot of your bed

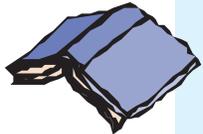

Between your bed and the wall

In the toy box

In the closet (check all closets)

Under the dirty clothes

Inside the fold-out couch

In the magazine rack

In the bathroom

On the back porch or in the yard

In the play house

On top of the DVD/Blu-ray player or TV

Check on top, behind, and in the dressers.

Ask relatives if they've seen it.

Around Town

At the doctor's or dentist's office

At the public library

At the babysitter's house

At a relative's house

At your daycare/after-school care

At your friend's house

At your other parent's house

At your parent's workplace

At another relative's workplace

At the restaurant

Wherever you went on errands recently

At School

The vehicle you ride to school in

Wherever you hang out after school

On the classroom bookshelves

In my neighbor's desk (ask permission)

In the cafeteria, gym, music room, etc.

At the school office

In any of the "Lost and Found" areas

Ask your friends if they've seen it.

Last, but not least, think about the various places you shoved piles of things when you were supposed to be cleaning your room. Check those piles, too!
